EXPERIENCE

I like to think that I'm a different person now than who I was before I started my internship, in a positive way. At Aleph, I've learnt collaboration, writing, presenting, time-management and multi-tasking.

The culture provided the possibility to learn something new everyday. There wasn't discrimination even as an intern. I got to meet many people from different countries. After my internship, I was hired as a developer here at Aleph.

EXPERIENCE
My internship at was a learning ground. Not only did I pick up skills for accounts and finance, but I learnt to do it in the context of a technology-driven company. After I was given a real account to handle, I was absorbed into a full-time position at Aleph.

People are nice here. Everyone on my team was a delight to work with. I learnt a lot about client management and how to manage teams with diverse skill sets. During my internship, I had hoped to get hired at Aleph. I did.

Experience

I learnt many things during my internship: how to design better, how to think quicker and how to lead stronger. I hardly felt like an intern because everyone grew together. I began my journey as an intern. Today, I am a UXUI Lead at Aleph.
